HONGKONG, THURSDAY, SEPTEMBER 4, 1890

THE farewell given to-day to the Hon. A.

P. MacEwen was short, hearty and sincere. The Chamber of Commerce room was full, and the fitness of the function was acknowledged by every one present. It mey be said by some objectors that the farewell presentation mania has sometimes been overdone, and that, when one or two admiters of a man take the matter up, there is a large tailing of the Hongkong community who are ever ready to follow the leaders. This possibility cannot be said to 6. MATE UP WEATHER, b bine sky, c de- have entered into the valodictory demonstration which was so voluntarily and promptly made to Mr Mackwen about noon to-day. And this is ea ily understood by those who know the man and the community. Mr MacEwen (if we except Mr. W. Keswick, Mr Ryrie, and Mr. Bulkely Johnson) has done more for the political or | Massas Adamson, Bell and Co. inform us municipal life of the colony than any other that the s. s. Commerce in the Legislative Council, and it is the part he has played in the public As a correspondent pointed out in last life of Hongkong during this period with hight's issue, the convenience of the public which we have most to do. Most of the has been and is likely to be interfered with measures which have been (or are being) by the sudden cessation of the steam launch . carried out for the benefit of the Colony trips between Hongkong and Kowloon, and during that time have been firwarded by vice verst. The Steam Launch Company the energetic advocacy of Mr MacEwen, who was quite entitled to withdraw its launches was ever in touch with the community and after a certain hour only it was clearly ever ready to interpret the wisher of the under an obligation to the public to give public for the governing powers. We have notice of its intention to do so. We unalready mentioned some of the public derstand, however, that Mr Dorabjee who taxpayers to a larger influence upon the governing authorities than they now possess, and to the greatest publicity being given to every matter, affecting their interests. For these efforts alone not to speak of the many other ways in which he has served the community-Mr MacEwon fully deserved the public recognition; which he has to day received in this Colony. Mr Marine Officers' Association at the MacEwen, who for the last twenty years has been connected with the old-established firm of Messrs Holliday, Wise & Co., will contimue to maintain commercial touch with this Colony; and, so he remarked in his Good-bye at the City Hall, he will look upon it as an bonour and a pleasure to assist the Colony in any way that he can in London, through the London Chamber of Commerce or the China Association. Under present circumstances, this promise meets a want which has been felt for many years. Mr MacEwen is just the man to represent the riews of the Colony in the proper quarters at Home, and the commu-4 p.m.-Meeting of Shareholders of The nity ought not to look lightly upon a promise which comes so sincerely, from a man who is so capable of performing it to the letter. vernor of New South Walca is a very happy. one. The people of Sydney would, no doubt, have been be ter pleased to have secured a Cabinet A inister; but the new Governor holds a not unimportant post in the Ministry, and in every other respect he is well qualified to succeed 1 and Carrington. Lord Jersey is a pleasant and fluent s, eaker. a man of wealth and liberality, and well versed in offices. In thefordahire, of which county he is Lord Lientenant, he enjoys great popularity, and has always taken the lead in every usoful and philanthropic mevement. Furthermore, he has a wife who is known as a brilliant speaker and a clever writer as well as a charming hostess. It will be no easy task to succeed Lord Carrington, who has justly earned the praise of the people of New South Wales for his tact, descretion, and geniality; but it would have been very difficult for Lord Salisbury to have made a more acceptable appointment. It is a great thing to find that noblemen of weath and ability, with a political career before them at home, are still willing to accept responsible and arduous posts in the colonies. -St. James's Budget.

A number of ladies and gentlemen had an opportunity of hearing at the Saroy Hatel the performances of a number of the talking delle which are among the latest products of Mr. Edison's ingenuity. The dolls were exhibited by a representative of the Edison Phonograph Toy Manufacturing Company, and excited much interest. Each doll contains a phonogr. ph, which is capable of reproducing about thirty words. One of the dolls recited distinctly the first verse of "Twinkle, twinkle, little star; another, 'lamb;' a fifth said 'Good morning, mamma, do you love baby ? Baby loves you; and so on. The phonograph is concoaled in the body of the dolt, and is set in motion by clockwork, which has to be wound up from time to time. When it is desired to change dolly's speech or recitation, a fresh sum. I was stated that the dolls would shortly be on sale in London.

SUPREME COURT IN BANKRUPTCY.

(Before His Honour Mr Fielding Clarke, Acting Chief Justice). Thursday, Sept. 4.

IN THE MATTER OF JOHN PRANCIS WERBER.

Mr Radyk, instructed by Mr R. Fraser Jan do. Smith, appeared to oppose an order for adjudication granted on the petition of W. E Van Eps and John Minhingtt against John Francis Web er. Mr Ho Wyson appeared for the politioners. Mr Rodyk-I appear on botalf of Mr Fraser Smith, acting angles, Mr. Wobber's power of attorney. I object to the adjudication in several grounds. His grounds of my objections are set out in Mr. Fraser Smith's affidavit. First of all, as regards pointment of Mr. Ho Tong as a director bo the act of hinkruptcy. I submit that Mr Webber has committed no act of forkruptey in the armse that he can be adju cited here. Section 10 says - If any debtor shall, with intout to defeat or delay his creditors, depart from this Colony, &c. such debtor shall be doesnot to have committed an act of bankruptcy.' My instructions are that Mr. Webber left having arranged practically with all his creditors. He left for purely Mr W. H. Gaskell seconded and the private reasons; and although he may not to able to mactise as a religitor in this Coart it is not impossible that he will be able to return within 12 months.

> His Lordship-The act of bankruptcy in this case is the sale of goods under an execution. Mr Rodyk-Sub-section I says a copy of > the petition must be served personally on the debtor, and this was not done. His Lordship-The adjudication was made under Section 14-another section altogether, and the rules set forth in the sub-sections; of section 10 only apply to that section- Provided always; that before any adjudication shall be made against such debtor under this section the following rules shall be abserved.' Under section 14 there is no provise that there should be any sorvice of petition on the d btor. The protection under section 14 is contained in the subsequent section of the Act, which gives the de tor the opportunity of coming forward to show cause against the adjudication, which you are supposed to be doing now. If you can show that there was no act of bankruptcy, no sale under execution, this is your apportunity. Mr Rodyk-I cannot do that. Section 10 applies especially to debtors leaving the Colony and it was on that I relied.

His Lordship-But there is an act of bankruptcy apart from that-the deed of execution. I should not have adjudicated under Section 10 unless there had been personal service. I suppose the reason of the distinction in the ordinance is that the acts of bankruptcy mentioned in Section 10 bankruptey mentioned in Section 14, which deals with the actual sale of a man's personal chatteln and goods-obviously more an act of insolvency than leaving the Colony.

His Lordship-It was proved to me that there had been that act of bankruptey. had not been sold under this petition.
